

Should Facebook Face Second Degree Murder Charges?

Fantasy Free Economics, James Quillian

Posted on April 4, 2020 by Fantasy Free Economics

Should Facebook face secondary murder charges? In my opinion, yes!

Why, you might ask? Second degree murder charges are routinely filed for lesser reasons. You might also wonder why such a nice pleasant corporation is guilty of second degree murder charges. I am about to explain.

Many more people will die because Facebook does not allow links to stories that explain how tremendously successful Vitamin C works as an anti viral drug than will ever die from the Corona Virus. Any such story or resource is automatically deemed to be fake and not allowed.

Oh, James Quillian must be crazy you might suggest. The routine mainstream opinion goes like this. “The whole world knows that Vitamin C is nothing but an ordinary vitamin and people only need a tiny bit of it. Research shows that it is useless for anything else.”

Is that your opinion? If it is, how did you come to that conclusion? I ask but I already know. Conventional wisdom says that it is no good. But, where does that conventional wisdom come from?

Vitamin C as it is used by the minority of doctors who use it is the biggest threat to the Pharmaceutical industry since aspirin was discovered. It is about as cheap as aspirin has ever been in constant dollars. The widespread use of Vitamin C has the potential to seriously diminish the profits of the pharmaceutical industry because Vitamin C would replace countless expensive and more dangerous high profit prescription drugs marketed.

Why would Facebook want to aid the pharmaceutical industry when they have a profit agenda of their own? Adam Smith, whose work was based on natural law explained that in the Wealth Of Nations.

How much has human nature changed since the 1700s?

Would you like to find the truth about how effectively Vitamin C can be used as an anti viral agent? My suggestion is to get information from the genuine experts who use it constantly as a cure and as a prevention.

The New York Post is an outlier within the media community and they have published the following article explaining the success of the one hospital in New York which is achieving success using Vitamin C to cure Corona Virus victims.

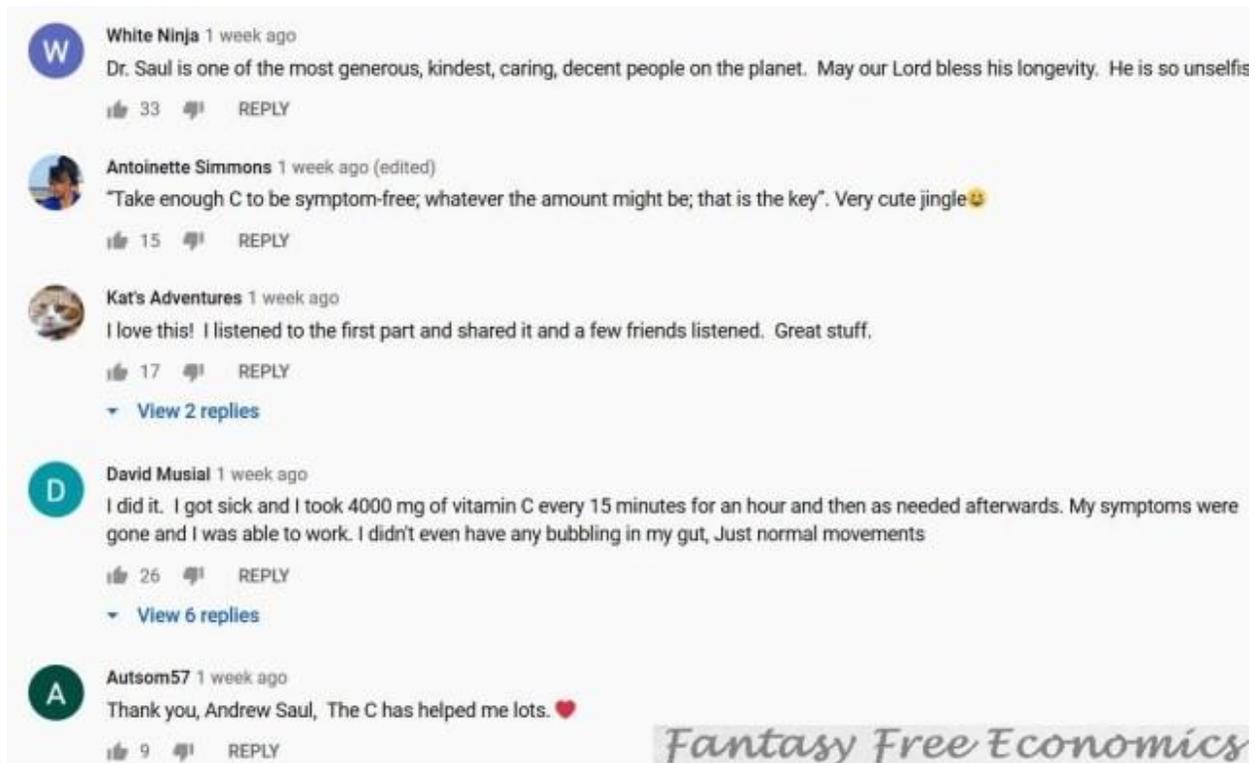

It is in the best financial interest of Facebook to deem positive Vitamin C stories as fake. Otherwise they would not be forbidding positive Vitamin C stories.

I am telling you this as a person whose academic life is devoted to discovering the truth about things. No one within the Facebook organization knows what the truth is or really what the truth is.

Lastly, what does the phrase "research shows" really mean? It means absolutely nothing.

If I was going to launch a Vitamin C research study, the first thing I would do is to study the cases of people who how report extraordinary result after following the advice of actual Vitamin C doctors.

Below, please read the comments below. These were clipped from the video featured earlier. It has been my observation that with things that really don't work, there are always ample detractors commenting on the useless information in the article. There are none.

A screenshot of a YouTube comment section with five comments. Each comment includes a profile picture, a name, a timestamp, the comment text, and interaction icons (likes, replies, and a 'REPLY' button). The comments are positive and praise Dr. Andrew Saul and the effectiveness of vitamin C. The background is a light gray with rounded corners.

W White Ninja 1 week ago
Dr. Saul is one of the most generous, kindest, caring, decent people on the planet. May our Lord bless his longevity. He is so unselfish
👍 33 🗨️ REPLY

Antoinette Simmons 1 week ago (edited)
"Take enough C to be symptom-free; whatever the amount might be; that is the key". Very cute jingle 🥰
👍 15 🗨️ REPLY

Kat's Adventures 1 week ago
I love this! I listened to the first part and shared it and a few friends listened. Great stuff.
👍 17 🗨️ REPLY
↳ View 2 replies

D David Musial 1 week ago
I did it. I got sick and I took 4000 mg of vitamin C every 15 minutes for an hour and then as needed afterwards. My symptoms were gone and I was able to work. I didn't even have any bubbling in my gut, Just normal movements
👍 26 🗨️ REPLY
↳ View 6 replies

A Autsom57 1 week ago
Thank you, Andrew Saul, The C has helped me lots. ❤️
👍 9 🗨️ REPLY

Fantasy Free Economics